DEEP RIVER PARTNERS WELCOMES NEW TEAM MEMBERS
Cora Heidenreich and Gracie Giese join Design Team

Milwaukee, WI (May 11, 2022) – Deep River Partners, a Milwaukee based architecture and interior design firm, is pleased to announce that Cora Heidenreich joins the Architecture team, and Gracie Giese joins the Interior Design team, as Design Associates.

Heidenreich is inspired by natural elements and historical architecture. Energized by minimalism and living with the land, she sees the combination of industrial elements with nature as a magically beautiful possibility. Getting to know the clients, and designing their unique spaces leaves her fulfilled. A graduate of Germantown High School, Heidenreich continued her education at Waukesha County Technical College, receiving a degree in Architectural Drafting and Construction Technology.

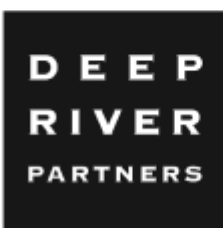

Giese believes that your surroundings influence wellbeing, and she is passionate to awaken this awareness in others. Finding beauty in the unexpected drives her to look beyond the surface and discover the underlying potential in all she sees. When a well-designed room causes someone to feel satisfied, Giese finds satisfaction that she has done her job. A graduate of Whitefish Bay High School, Giese continued her education at UW-Madison, receiving a degree in Interior Architecture. She is continuing her professional development as an allied member of the American Society of Interior Designers (ASID) and is working toward her professional certification in Interior Design.

“Cora and Gracie bring welcome depth to both sides of our design studio. The enthusiasm they bring to each project, from design development to supporting details for team leads, and their dedication ensures the level of quality and detail our clients expect when crafting a custom home,” said Richard Sherer, CEO/Founder of Deep River Partners.
