

Nordic ranked as sixth largest management consulting firm by Modern Healthcare

MADISON, Wis. — September 26, 2024 — Nordic®, a global health and technology consulting company, has been ranked by Modern Healthcare as the sixth largest management consulting firm in its 2024 survey. This year's annual survey ranked management consulting firms based on total 2023 healthcare revenue.

“With healthcare leaders around the world trusting Nordic as their end-to-end strategic partner in health IT modernization, we’re honored to be once again recognized by Modern Healthcare as a top management consulting firm,” said Paul Slaughter, chief operating officer at Nordic. “We leverage our global expertise to help healthcare organizations around the world harness the power of technology to streamline operations, enhance clinician wellness, improve patient care, and achieve financial sustainability.”

In today’s healthcare landscape, the consulting market plays an increasingly important role in helping address evolving enterprise-wide challenges, including shifts in operating model strategy, clinician workflow, and technology deployment across hospitals and health systems. As investments grow for data analytics, generative AI, and related infrastructure and governance, healthcare organizations are eager to align with experienced partners who bring expertise across years of engagements and can help them realize meaningful value and enhance efficiency.

Added Katherine Sager, chief consulting officer at Nordic: “Being recognized as one of the largest healthcare consulting firms is a testament to our evolution from an excellent Epic staffing firm to an end-to-end service provider that helps hospitals and health systems digitally transform, modernize, and improve how care is delivered. Nordic has grown organically and acquisitively since its inception, enabling clients to benefit from extensive operational, industry, and business knowledge and comprehensive understanding of the top health IT platforms.”

Since 2019, Nordic has been recognized by Modern Healthcare multiple times on rankings for Best Places to Work in Healthcare, Largest Revenue Cycle Firm, and Largest Healthcare Management Consulting Firm.
